PROCEEDINGS OF THE OREGON STATE DENTAL SOCIETY.

Second Session.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON—CONTINUED.

Subject of discussion: Exposed Pulps.

Dr. Welch gave his experience in the treatment of exposed pulps. His practice had been to remove the nerve, if possible, while it was alive and healthy. He sometimes treated with arsenic for twenty-four hours, or such time as might be necessary.

Dr. Miller did not propose to instruct the profession, but he had tried all the remedies for exposed pulps, and had no great confidence in their treatment with a view to preserving the nerve. He agreed with the views advanced by Dr. Welch, and thought it best to remove the nerve.

Dr. Skiff said that he sometimes obtunded the feeling of the nerve with chloroform before extracting it.

Dr. Gray thought it did not give great pain to remove a healthy nerve. He had done it quickly with a sharp instrument.

Dr. Cardwell had tried the different methods as they came up, and had concluded that no rule could have universal application. Each case must suggest the practice. He had sometimes capped the nerve with a non conductor, using a covering of os artificial, which treatment has frequently succeeded. He thought it best, when possible, to save the nerve. He had removed the nerve successfully, however. In his practice he had often found mouths which would not tolerate dead teeth, the decay in such instances producing abscess.

Dr. Fiske spoke briefly of the electro cautery in obtunding sensibility and removing unhealthy growth.

Dr. Gray said that he would like to hear the opinion of the Society on the formation of new bone and gum around partially denuded fangs.

Dr. Cardwell thought if the investing membrane of the fang was gone, new bone could not form.

After general discussion the Society endorsed this view. Drs. Carpenter and Fiske being called on made some interesting remarks. Dr. Carpenter, in behalf of the Medical Department of Willamette University, offered the Society either one or two chairs in that Department.

Dr. Gray inquired if new bone and gum can be produced around denuded roots.

Dr. Cardwell thought that it was not possible. After liberal discussion, the general sense of the meeting seemed to be in accord with Dr. C.'s opinion.

On motion the Society adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock, P. M.

SECOND DAY—MORNING SESSION.

The Society met at 10 A. M., the President, Dr. Hatch, in the chair.

The roll was called, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Dr. Cardwell then proposed Dr. H. Smith for membership. On motion the ballot was spread, and he was duly elected.

Drs. Thompson and Gray were appointed a committee to wait on Dr. Smith and notify him of his election.

A communication was read from Dr. S. H. Roberts, of San Francisco, requesting to be made an honorary member. The ballot was spread, and he was duly elected.

Dr. E. R. Fiske was elected an honorary member by acclamation.

Dr. Gray moved to consider the proposition of H. Carpenter, M. D., Dean of the Department of Medicine of Willamette University, to create two chairs in Dentistry in connection with their faculty.

On motion of Dr. Hatch,

Resolved, That the Oregon State Dental Society offer their hearty co-operation in the matter of establishing a Dental Department in connection with the Willamette University, and recommend to the consideration of the Trustees of said University the names of Drs. William F. Thompson and George W. Gray as suitable persons to fill those chairs. Carried.

A communication was received from W. H. Watkinds, inviting the Society to visit the State Prison in a body. On motion, accepted.

On motion,

Resolved, That the thanks of this Society be tendered to the City Council for use of Council Chamber. Carried.

Adjourned to meet at 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Society met at 2 o'clock P. M., Dr. Skiff in the chair.

On motion, Dr. Miller was elected Secretary pro tem.

Theses for next meeting were announced, viz:
Improvements in Operative Dentistry; Dr. W. F. Thompson.
Absorption of Alveolar Processes—Cause and Treatment; Dr. J. R. Cardwell.
Relative Value of the Different Materials Used as a Base for Artificial Teeth; Dr. L. S. Skiff.
Neuralgia—Its Cause and Treatment; Dr. T. L. Nicklin.
Alveoli Abscesses, and Treatment; Dr. G. A. Miller.
Pathology and Therapeutics; Dr. Geo. W. Gray.
Duties of the operator to his patients and himself; Dr. J. G. Glenn.
Professional Ethics; Dr. G. H. Chance.
Mechanical Dentistry; Dr. H. Smith.
Causes of irregularity of the teeth, and best method of correcting the same; Dr. J. Welch.
Deciduous teeth and their treatment; Dr. E. W. Biddle.
Extracting of teeth and treatment; Dr. J. W. Merideth.
Sensitive dentine and treatment; Dr. J. H. Hatch.

After the subject of sensitive dentine had been appointed to Dr. Hatch, Dr. Glenn desired to hear the views of the different members concerning their treatment of the same.

Dr. Smith recommends carbolic acid.

Dr. Welch recommended sharp instruments and a steady hand.

Dr. Miller reported that treatment with carbolic acid and nitrate of silver had some failures.

Dr. Skiff recommended dietic treatment, by requesting his patients to refrain from the use of acids a few days previous to the operation.

Dr. Biddle filled with os artificial or Hill's stopping until sensitiveness subsided, removed and filled with gold.

On motion, the Society adjourned to visit the State Penitentiary, by invitation previously extended. Adjourned to meet at 8 o'clock P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Meeting called to order, Dr. Skiff in the chair, when the following names were presented, balloted for, and elected members of the Society, viz: Dr. E. O. Smith of Albany, and Dr. W. Kubler of Portland.

After discussing various topics of interest to the profession, the Society adjourned to meet at Portland on the last Wednesday in March, 1874.

G. A. MILLER, Secretary Pro Tem.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES.

A complete set of burglars' tools cost from $800 to $1,000.

The surest way to lose your health is to keep drinking other people's.

An earthquake visitation in New England is predicted by "Professor Delisser," for August 20th.

A Greensburg, Ind., dog found a wallet in the street that contained $850, and took it home to his master.

A young man's friends object to his being loose, but somehow they have an equal objection to his being tight.

A child with a frog's head is the latest reported Darwinian phenomenon. It was born in Washington county, Vt.

One-seventh of our United States population is of foreign birth, namely: Five and a half millions among thirty-eight and a half; in exact figures, 5,567,546 among 38,558,371.

A boarding house fiend tells the story that in a recent thunder storm the warring of the elements was so awe inspiring that the hair in a dish of butter in the pantry turned completely white during the night.

Here is an instance of a mother's love, from a Rhode Island paper: "A Newport woman recently discovered that her children, seven in number, showed unmistakable signs of having the scarlet fever. Being unable to procure any assistance, she worked, watched, and administered medicine day and night to her sick children, until her system gave out and she became insane, in which condition she still remains."

OREGON.

Wheat is worth 70 cents a bushel in Yamhill.

The postal cards are in supply at the Salem postoffice.

Oregon City Council has passed an anti-Chinese ordinance.

The hay crop of this year is the heaviest ever known in Oregon.

Both the flouring mills at McMinnville have shut down till harvest.

A Grange was organized at Gingles' school house, on Soap Creek, last Monday.

Cornelius claims to do the largest shipping business of any point in Washington county.

Hacks will start in a few days on a line to be established between Lafayette and Portland.

An assessment of forty per cent. has been levied upon the capital of the Albany Farmers' Company.

A grand ball will be given at North Yamhill on the evening of the Fourth of July. A good time is expected.

"There is a great need," says the Enterprise, "of a warehouse at Oregon City, where all boats can land free."

Another row, a sequel to the Glaze-Whitley affair, is reported at Dallas on Thursday morning. No particulars.

Dr. R. C. Hill, of Albany, will shortly start for a trip to his old Tennessee home. We wish him a safe voyage and a pleasant visit.

The Enterprise is informed that operations at the Oswego Iron Works will begin about the first of next month. We hope this is true.

A lot of hoodlums are to be punished by the authorities for molesting the Roberts' Bridge campmeeting in Linn county last Sunday.

The Corvallis College has just closed a most prosperous year, and will open the next collegiate year with a still more flattering patronage.

The Grange of Patrons of Husbandry, organised at Tangent a few weeks since, have decided to build a hall 20x40 feet, two stories in hight.

The wheat fields of Washington county now present an appearance that would strike the eastern wheat grower with admiration and wonder.

Lafayette just now presents a lively appearance. Carpenters are at work in different portions of the town putting up new dwelling houses, barns, &c.

Gen. Brown of the Albany Democrat rusticated in a two acre strawberry patch for two days and claims that he rendered himself conspicuous as a devourer of that fruit.

Rev. Thomas Naylor died in London, Eng., on last Friday forenoon, and his son Richard Naylor, residing in Cornelius, was apprised of the fact at 2 o'clock the same day.

A young lady flew to her lover's arms on the arrival of the train at Albany last Wednesday. They had been separated three years. Wednesday evening they were married.

The horse men of Albany will match three carriage teams of that city against any other three teams in the State (for speed and style), at the approaching Linn County Fair.

A runaway at Salem last Thursday resulted in throwing Dr. Jessup and wife and Mrs. W. W. Martin out of a buggy, bruising all of them and dislocating Mrs. Jessup's shoulder.

At a meeting of the Albany Farmers' Company held on Saturday, the 22d, by unanimous vote of the shareholders the capital stock of the Company was increased from $10,000 to $30,000.

The graduates of Albany College this year were Miss Cora J. Irvine, Miss Maria G. Irvine, Miss Mary J. Hannon, and Miss Weltha M. Young, all of whom acquitted themselves with honor.

The new mines of Ochoco occupy a circuit of about twenty miles. It is believed not less than 500 men have gone there. Canyon City miners have nearly all decamped for the new placers.

At the regular meeting of Albany Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., on Wednesday evening, June 25th, N. Baum was elected Noble Grand, W. Ketchum Vice Grand, A. N. Arnold Secretary, and Fred. Graf Treasurer.

The following gentlemen will act as officers of the day at the Cornelius Barbecue: Marshal, William Reaves; Chaplain, Rev. Horace Lyman; Reading Declaration of Independence, Hon. W. D. Hoxter; Orator, Hon. J. N. Dolph.

Mr. Goldsmith, President of the W. R. T. Co., has kindly tendered the use of one of the Company's steamboats to Albany Engine Co. No. 1, for an excursion on the 4th of July. The boys have accepted the tender, and will excursh up the Willamette on that day.

Considerable talk is going on in Linn county concerning the sudden departure of Martin Luper, an old, well known and respectable citizen of that county. He closed up his business in a business way, left ample provision for his children, came to Portland and took the steamer for San Francisco, sending word home that he was going, but not telling where to or why. He took about $16,000 with him.

A letter from Ochoco, dated June 8th, speaks of the great excitement in relation to the recent discovery of gold diggings. The writer says the prospects obtained varied in quantity or value from three to five cents to the pan of dirt washed as a general thing, but as high as six bits and one dollar had been obtained in several of the favorite claims. The whole of Ochoco and the surrounding country was in a fever of excitement, and nothing was thought or talked of but the supposed "big thing" the lucky ones had struck.

The Albany Collegiate Institute has just closed a prosperous school year by examinations, exhibitions, reunions, etc. This school has flourished greatly under the able management of Prof. Warren and competent assistants. The annual election of officers for the Literary Union took place with the following result: President, T. P. Hackleman; Secretary, Miss Libbie Halbrook; Orator, J. A. Yantis; Poet, W. R. Blain; Historian, Prof. Sox; Seer, Prof. R. K. Warren; Marshal, Miss Mary Finlayson; Musical Director, Miss Georgia Brown; Essayist, Miss Libbie Irvine; Reciter, Miss Maggie Foster.

The graduating exercises of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, located at Salem, and under the auspices of the Most Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, will take place on next Monday, and the Annual Commencement on the following day. Six young ladies—Misses Maggie McManus, Margaret Corper, Zella Savage, Dora Hayden, Estelle Hayden and Ella Hoult—have completed the curriculum of studies which entitles them to graduating honors with the Diploma and gold medal of the Academy. The other exercises will comprise essays on interesting topics, together with vocal and instrumental musical selections.

An exhibition by the pupils of the School for the Blind, at Salem, was given last Wednesday. The exercises commenced with an address by Miss Simpson, the blind teacher, to the members of the Board of Education, expressing in very appropriate terms her gratitude for the favors so far shown to her pupils and herself, soliciting the future exertions of the same, and, on their and her own behalf, promising their utmost efforts to promote the best interests of the institution. Then instrumental music by Miss Simpson, followed by an address by one of the blind scholars—then vocal and instrumental music, followed by a thorough course of examination in geography, vocal and instrumental music, mental arithmetic, declamation, spelling, writing, vocal music and reading, followed by an address by Miss Simpson, the blind teacher, and responded to by Hon. S. F. Chadwick in a most appropriate and feeling manner, promising his support and personal influence with the State authorities for the protection and promotion of the unfortunate blind of the State of Oregon who may avail themselves of the benefits offered by the erection of the Blind School. Miss Simpson then made her closing remarks, expressing her great satisfaction with the pupils under her charge, and appreciative of the favors extended to them and to herself by the State, its officers and the friends of the institution.

THE TERRITORIES.

Olympia boys name their base ball clubs well. One is "The Ringtails," another "The Pastimes."

Captain Bledsoe is running as messenger now for Wells, Fargo & Co., between Silver and Idaho City.

Idaho contributed $10 50 in coin and four pounds type metal to the Greeley Monument Fund.

Wells, Fargo & Co., shipped from Silver City last week five bars of bullion, valued at $48,469 11.

Mrs. Julian Olney, aged 15 years, died at Olympia last Wednesday evening, leaving a husband and infant to mourn her loss.

The Waldron Troupe played Dora Bell at Silver City on the 16th to a full house, which appreciated the talent of the Company.

A miner named Kennedy was caved on and had his left leg broken below the knee while working in Sullivan's hydraulic claim, in Jacob's Gulch, near Silver City, last week.

The Unitarian Society of Olympia had a prosperous fair on the evening of the 26th. The receipts were $235, the expenses about $60, and the clear gain not far from $175.

Four men reached Olympia on the 26th from Fort Garry, Manitoba, on their way to British Columbia to take part in the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railroad. They are respectively C. F. Harrington, E. W. Jarvis, E. E. Perry and J. Gray.

At the meeting of the Vestrymen of St. John's Episcopal Church of Olympia, the resignation of the pastor, Rev. Thos. E. Dickey, was received and accepted. The resignation will take effect on the first of July, and Mr. D. and his family, a few days later, depart for their new home in California.

The barks Florence and Nicholas Biddle are waiting at the Port Blakely mill to take piles to San Francisco. Loading lumber there are the bark Martha Rideout and brig Levi Stevens, from San Francisco, and the ship Canada for Callao. The bark Sampson and two [illegible] are due. The mill [illegible] as much to do as it can, and is obliged to run night and day.

On Thursday morning, the 19th inst., Hartley S. Babcock was instantly killed by being struck upon the head by the ore bucket while engaged in sinking the shaft in the Illinois Central mine, near Silver City. The bucket became detached from the windlass rope while descending and fell to the bottom of the shaft, where deceased was working. The deceased was a native of Maine, and about 35 years of age.

Track-laying from Tenino northward has commenced in good earnest. From there to the crossing of the Deschuttes, a distance of seven miles, the work will be hurried, as there a bridge is to be erected and a detention necessitated. The timbers for the bridge have been prepared at Tenino, in the mill of J. H. Stone & Co., and will be conveyed to their resting place on construction cars after the completion of the road to that place.

The Owyhee Avalanche of June 21st says: "About noon Thursday last we, together with several other citizens, enjoyed the rare privilege of beholding a star in the daytime. It was very bright and plainly discernible with the naked eye in the southwest heavens, about forty-five degrees above the horison. Our local astronomers say that the twinkling orb thus beheld was Jupiter. Such an event is of very rare occurrence and demonstrates the remarkable purity of our atmosphere."

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Rich iron ore has been discovered on the farm of Mr. Sere's on Mount Tolmie Cross roads.

At Fort Edmonton, tea sells for $1 per pound; flour, of inferior quality, $20 per 100 lbs; pemmican, $20 per 100 lbs.

Never before, within the memory of the oldest resident, has there been so much rain in British Columbia in June. Indeed a fall of rain after the middle of May has been the exception rather than the rule.

At the Assizes, at Queenslmouth, Dan Kennedy was convicted of larceny and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. An Indian, who killed two squaws at Omineca, was convicted of manslaughter and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

The London Times says the report of the Vancouver Coal Mining and Land Company (limited), to be presented on the 13th May, shows an available total of £7,361, and recommends a dividend for the half year at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, which will absorb £4,130 and leave £3,231.

The Boxer captured a splendid black wolf up north. The animal is of a remarkably affectionate and clinging nature, and seems anxious to cultivate a close acquaintance with the men on board. With children he would soon become so great a favorite that they would raise no remonstrance to lying down inside of him.

Coal of superior quality has been discovered at Chiliwhack by an Indian, who has made known its locality, and a company has been formed to work it. The seam is half a mile from Chiliwhack river, and eight miles from the Frazer. Caverns—in one of which Mr. Shannon, one of the prospecting party, walked 300 feet—are seen there.

In the case of the Queen vs Sullivan, for killing one Indian and wounding another, on trial at Victoria last week, the jury found "that the prisoner committed a justifiable homicide in shooting Portlet in the faithful performance of his duty as a public officer; and they take this opportunity of congratulating the Government on having an officer who so efficiently and energetically discharged his duty."

Capt. Butler, who has just arrived at Victoria, overland, from Canada, reports about 250 miners at the Omineca mines, and several prospecting parties out. He found bituminous tar in considerable quantities near Peace river, and large deposits of fine table salt on Slave river, between the Athabasca and Great Slave lakes; also plenty of wild game on Peace river. Capt. Butler bears testimony to the excellent and friendly disposition shown by the Indians along the whole route, the result of the admirable manner in which they have been dealt with by the Hudson Bay Company's officers at the various trading posts. The half-breed population are numerous on the other side, reaching about 2 000 on the Saskatchewan and about 10,000 on Red river. Captain Butler describes them as intelligent, brave and hardy, as skilled horsemen and unerring marksmen, and in every way calculated to form a fine militia force, especially if trained and organized as irregular troops.

A young lady at Eau Claire, Wisconsin, disappeared the other day, and after three hundred people had searched for five hours she was found sitting on the bank of the river with her lover, squeezing hands and talking nonsense, as if nothing had happened.

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 27.

WASHINGTON CITY.

News from the National Capitol.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Mr. Takaki, Japanese Charge d'Affaires, had an interview with Blackfan, Superintendent of foreign mails, to-day. All agreed upon a basis for a proposed Postal Convention between the United States and Japan. They came to a satisfactory understanding. A project for a Convention will be immediately prepared.

It has been decided that any matter properly franked and deposited in the mails on or before June 30th (last day of the duration of the franking privilege) must be carried to its destination and delivered free, although it may arrive after the franking privilege has ceased.

EASTERN STATES.

New York Races.

UTICA, June 26.—The attendance at the races to-day was large. The first race for the President's cup, mile heats, was won by Sunrise. Time, 1:47¼, 1:47¾ and 1:48½. The Harvest Home handicap, three quarter mile heats, was won by Chickabiddy. Time, 1:18 and 1:17¼. Utica handicap, two miles, free for all ages, was won by Buckden Joe; Daniels second, King Henry third. Time, 3:38¼.

Billiards.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The ninth game of the billiard tournament was played this afternoon, between Maurice Daly and Albert Garnier. The latter ran out in the 38th inning. This evening the first game between Deery and Joseph Dion, was won by the latter. Dion's average was 20, Deery's, 4 2-30. Ubassy and Garnier were the contestants in the second game. The former had the call on betting at odds of two to one. Garnier, in the 26th inning, made 30, and made the game amid much applause.

CINCINNATI, June 26.—President Grant arrived here to-day, and proceeded at once to the bedside of his sick father, in Covington. General Sherman also arrived, and is stopping at the Burnett House.

NASHVILLE, June 26.—Twenty-four cases of cholera are reported to-day. It seems to attack different persons of the city at different times. While prevalent in one portion, it is scarcely present at all in another.

Escape of the Isle of Shoals Murderer.

PORTLAND, Me., June 26.—Two new watchmen were put on duty last night to watch Wagner. About nine o'clock one of them remarked that Wagner was lying very still. At three o'clock this morning, observing that the prisoner was in the same position, the watchman made an investigation and found a broom stick dressed in Wagner's clothing, in place of Wagner. On further investigation it was ascertained that Wagner, with two other prisoners, had sawed off some bars guarding a scuttle leading to the pantry in the floor below, made a hearty meal and departed at 8 o'clock this forenoon. No attempt to capture them had been made, Sheriff Warren being absent.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Atchinese War.

PENANG, June 26.—It is reported here that the Government of Holland is willing to enter into negotiations with the King of Acheen for a peaceable settlement of the difference between the two countries. It is also rumored that twelve Turkish vessels are on the way to Acheen to support the King's forces in their war against the Dutch troops.

From Rome.

ROME, June 26.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, Signor Lanza, President of the Council announced that all the Ministers had tendered their resignation to the King, but would remain in office till the formation of the Cabinet. King Victor Emanuel arrived at Florence to-night from Turin. He immediately summoned Signor Minghetti to undertake the task of forming a new Ministry.

A Small War Ended.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 26.—The newspapers publish a dispatch from Tashkend, announcing that the Khan of Khiva has capitulated to the R[illegible] forces, and that the Capital of the Khanate is now occupied by the Czar's troops.

BOKHARA (Turkestan), June 13.—It is reported that the Khan of Khiva abandoned his city unconditionally. Gen. Kauffmann was at first well disposed toward him and not inclined to insist upon hard terms, but twelve different proposals were rejected because of evident trickery, and Kaufman was compelled to refuse all negotiations.

JAPAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The steamer China, from Hongkong and Yokohama, arrived this afternoon and came to an anchorage off North Point. It is not yet known whether smallpox is on board. She brings Yokohama dates to June 6. The educational system of Japan, about which so much has been said, are in danger of failure. Only one superintendent is appointed in eight departments. The Mikado, yielding the [illegible] of the Government, [illegible] the work of rebuilding his palace be suspended. The native press is clamoring for the establishment of a [illegible] and lunatic asylum. Farmers throughout Japan are advised to adopt our agricultural [illegible] machines and implements. No pupils will hereafter be admitted to the public schools until they are vaccinated.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE, June 27.—Elizabeth Christler, aged 14, at Richmond, attempted suicide on Wednesday. The alleged cause was forcible violence of her person by a tramp named Moss. The girl will recover. Officers are in pursuit of the scoundrel.

The Mormon press is warm over the [illegible] Gentile legislation of next winter, which has been called for by the Eastern press.

There is considerable excitement over the new discoveries in Dry Canyon, Bingham District.

NEVADA.

WINNEMUCCA, June 27.—The county-seat question has been settled, by a decision of the Supreme Court, in favor of Winnemucca. There is great rejoicing over the event.

Wells Fargo & Co. shipped to-day three boxes, valued at $16,864, from Minnesota Mine, Idaho, and $12,260 from same mine last week.

HAMILTON, Nev., June 27.—At 5:30 A. M., a fire broke out near the store of M. Cohn & Bro., clothiers, on Main street, while a strong southerly wind was blowing. The fire soon communicated to the adjoining buildings, and in a short time the whole of both sides of the street was in flames. Owing to the scarcity of water and the [illegible] incident to such occasions, the flames soon got beyond the control of the efforts of the Fire Department, and the whole of Main and Treasure streets, from Withington's building on the south to a [illegible] Hill on the north, was consumed by the conflagration. The total amount of loss is estimated at $500,000. All the principal places of business are destroyed. No lives were lost.

TAHOE CITY, June 27.—The telegraphic line between Tahoe City and Truckee is completed. Lake Tahoe now has telegraphic communication with the outside world.

GENOA, June 27.—Last night a fire broke out in the rear of William Grisham's building, occupied by Mrs. Trimble. The flames soon caught and consumed the adjoining buildings on either side, extending south to the corner of Mill and Main streets, and north as far as Johns & Child's brick building, occupied by J. Lightle, at which point, owing to new and very efficient water works recently completed, the fire was checked and finally subdued. Livingston owned and occupied the corner as a saloon. He lost everything. No insurance. Dr. C. B. Luce, and A. Whitford, Justice of the Peace, who had offices in the Grisham Building, saved nothing. The third and last of three frame buildings consumed, owned and occupied by A. Simon as a saloon and barber shop, was the only property insured in the burnt district. Loss estimated not less than $8,000. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

ARIZONA.

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—From the Arizona (Prescott) Miner of the 21st we learn the following. Cerbatat, June 17.—Last evening the house of James Boner caught fire from a lamp in the hands of Mrs. Boner. She, in attempting to put it out, set her dress on fire, and rushed out of the house into the open air completely wrapped in flames. Her shrieks were awful. Before anything could be done she was beyond help. She was burned from head to foot, and lingered until two o'clock this afternoon, when she died. The baby in her arms was badly burned, as well as an older child. She leaves seven children.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The Chinaman found ill with smallpox on Clay street has been removed to the pest house.

Mr. Sargent was not present last night with the Conference Committee on the subject of procuring the flagship California for a school ship, and they adjourned without transacting any business.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The special committee, appointed to investigate the affairs of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Asylum, submitted their report to-day, sustaining the Principal, Prof. Wilkinson, and acquitting him of all the serious charges made against his administration. The Committee examined over seventy witnesses, and many pages of documentary evidence. The found the food ordinarily good and of sufficient quantity, the dormitories well kept and the bed clothing good. The charge against Charles Wilkinson, of taking gross liberties with female pupils, was not sustained, but the Committee found three or four instances of impropriety of demeanor by him towards them. They found the health of the pupils good, and no neglect in musical or mechanical departments. They condemn the use, by Wilkinson, of insulting language, proved in the case of certain girls who went to the house of the former teacher, and remaining late, were rebuked by Wilkinson. They find his ordinary deportment marked by courtesy and kindness. They find the financial accounts all correct. In concluding their report, the committee suggests several reforms in minor matters connected with the institution.

The Black Mountain Coal Mining Company and Clifton Coal Mining Company, organized to-day. Capital of each, $1,000,000. Trustees of each—J. Case, W. Strader, C. B. Burroughs, M. Banhead and G. H. Smith.

Mrs. McNeal was arrested last night for kidnapping a child, but was dismissed by the Police Court, it being shown that the woman is deranged.

In the examination of Captain Patterson, of the bark Edward James, to-day, it was proved by the prosecuting witness, that the captain beat a sailor, named Peter Thompson, and set a dog on him, which bit his arms and hands. The examination is not yet finished.

Three more cases of small pox were discovered to-day on Pacific street, amongst white children. It is reported that there are more cases in the neighborhood.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—The Government sale at Drum Barracks, Wilmington, is announced for July 31st.

An anti Chinese meeting was called for this evening. The call was not signed by any one, nor does the movement seem to receive public encouragement.

The grand jury found nineteen indictments against John Farrell, indicted for the murder of Jas. [illegible], who was found in a dying condition with his skull fractured on Farrell's premises a few months ago.

VALLEJO, June 27.—The United States war ship California has been hauled into the wharf, and a commission appointed to examine her. She will probably be condemned and sold, as she is reported unfit for any purpose.

Hydraulic power is being [illegible] fully in raising the steamer D[illegible].

The business and [illegible] office of the smelters Lilly, Leiserling & Co., Stockton, was burned last night. Loss, $20,000.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

STEILACOOM, June 27.—The grading and thirty-five of the first [illegible] miles of [illegible]'s hundred mile contract is about finished. The grading force is at a point twenty-one miles north of the Nisqually river, and by the 4th of July that number of miles will be finished. The Wife of General Canby.

[By Mrs. S E. Wallace, in the I[illegible] Journal.]

More than thirty years ago, in the little town of Crawfordsville, Indiana, there [illegible] merry, old fashioned wedding, and Captain E. R. S. Canby and Louisa Hawkins were married. Both were young, the bride beautiful, gifted with a reed-like [illegible] of movement and a rich and exquisite voice, that still haunts my ear with the echo of its remembered music. The old people shook their heads that night, and said she was too tender for a soldier's wife; it would not do for her to brave the hardships and dangers of the new countries.

His calling [illegible] way of loving her [illegible] her whole soul, and throughout the shifting changes of all this tract of years she has been with him, and where he was there has been her home, her home. Along the [illegible] frontier, at desolate outposts [illegible] in New Mexico, in California, ev[illegible] edge of the battle, that gentle, delicate woman has hovered near her husband, and the banner over her h[illegible] love.

In the fruitless march to Utah, under Buchanan's [illegible] the tent [illegible] among the mountains where the troops wintered. SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 28, 1873.

The Railway Franchises Again.

Every day the sentiment of the country tends more and more to the position that the railway charters are so far public matters as to authorize the legislatures to pass laws regulating their tariffs of freight and passengers, and restrain them from making unjust discriminations for or against particular individuals or places.

Those who assume that there is any considerable number of persons in the United States who oppose the building of railways, are, we feel perfectly warranted in saying, wholly wrong. The influence of these enterprises in civilizing the country, in developing its material resources, in augmenting its wealth, in peopling its wildernesses, cannot be overlooked, and hardly can be overestimated. They have given employment to vast numbers of persons who needed employment, they have generally imparted a stimulus and buoyancy to other industries in the countries through which they have passed. In divers ways that are well understood by every one who has closely observed the progress of the country during the period of its activity in this direction, the building of railways has added to the wealth and promoted the general prosperity of nearly every section where they have been constructed. The people realize these facts, and are, therefore, more than willing to be the friends of the railways, instead of arraying themselves in antagonism to them.

But the railways have pushed their extortions in the matter of freight and passenger charges—especially the former—and their unjust and tyrannical discriminations against particular individuals and places, to such a length that the people have been forced into a position of apparent hostility to them, as a matter of self-defense. So great is the greed of these corporations for gain, that few of them ever stand upon the question of means, or balk at any expedient to add to their ability to handle large sums of money. The millions upon millions of dollars, out of which the officers of these companies have done the people by the single process of "watering" their stock, furnish a just cause of complaint by the people, and a strong admonition of the necessity of action by the national and State legislatures for the suppression of such nefarious practices. The immense combinations effected by the managers of these roads, in order to give each practically a monopoly of a certain trade, and thus enable all to continue their extortions from the people and gratify their insatiable greed of profit, are a standing menace to all other industries and enterprises of the country. These are the considerations that underlie the contest now going on between the people and the railways.

The agitation extends all over the nation; but the great battle-field of the contest is in the West—in Illinois and Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota and the other great producing States that are similarly situated. It is not a noisy conflict. True, the people hold public meetings at which the problem of transportation is freely discussed in all its phases; but the tone of all their discussions is that, not of excitement and hasty denunciation, but of well formed and firm purpose. The movement is of the right kind, and it is being pressed forward by exactly the right methods. The continuous, earnest, but, as far as possible, patient agitation of the one question of the right of the legislative branch of the government to exercise supervision over these quasi public enterprises, for the protection of the equal rights of every citizen. We have such thorough and unwavering confidence in the ultimate adoption of this principle by all the courts that we can not but regard it as altogether the most safe and certain resource of the people against the monopolies. Combinations may secure decisions adverse to this view for a time, but it is sound and at last it will be so recognized. The Legislatures will yet fix the tariffs of charges on the railways, and the courts will sustain them in doing so.

An attempt is making among the leaders of the different factions of the Democractic party in New York to reconcile their differences and reunite for the purpose of getting control of the city government. If a reunion should be effected in such a manner as to secure the hearty co-operation of all the Democratic elements of the city's population, its success would be certain. It is the policy of the Republicans to divide the Democrats, and beat them in detail. Let us hope that the attempt at reconciliation will be a failure. The reorganization of the Democracy in New York City means the restoration of the Tammany ring to power and the plundering of the people as they were plundered before under Democratic rule.

The Springfield Republican expresses the opinion that if the stories told about Senator Mitchell or Hipple, of Oregon, are true, he is "a very unfit man to represent Ben Holladay in the United States Senate." We don't exactly wish to take issue with the Republican on the point, but we should say if he is fit to represent anbody in the Senate that person is certainly Ben Holladay.

The Eugene Hawk-Eye has evidently resolved to go after the scalp of W. H. Odell, Esq., Surveyor General. At least, if we stood in that gentleman's shoes, we should consider that we had received notice to keep our Hyperion curls out of sight, if we did not want to lose them.

Father Hyacinthe's Mission.—An English letter writer from Geneva says Father Hyacinthe's lectures are increasing in popularity and are creating the most wonderful sensation. His audiences always number many thousands, while far greater numbers are prevented from hearing him by the impossibility of getting within hearing of his voice. Already 1,300 people in that city have given in their adhesion to the new principles and the number bids fair to largely increase. This writer says of the Wednesday evening meetings. "No one can enter except by a ticket, and 3,000 are gratuitously distributed weekly to those who give their word of honor that they are Catholics, while 500 are given to Protestants. It is said that some have been sold for 30 francs or 40 francs each, but English residents tell me they have been unable to procure any for love or money."

Transportation and Banking by Indians.—The Unionville Silver State of June 14th says Two industrious and enterprising Piutes who rejoice in the ownership of a span of horses and a wagon are regularly engaged in hauling cordwood into town, and are said to be making money at the business. Another, a bloated Piute capitalist, having sold his wood ranch in the East Range for $300, is engaged in the banking business. He loans the "busted" and impecunious members of his tribe money, in sums ranging from one to four half-dollars, for which he charges, for one week's interest, equivalent to the sum loaned.

LETTER FROM SALEM.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT WALLAMET UNIVERSITY

SALEM, June 27, 1873.

This is the month in which our Capital breaks forth in splendid bloom—Tennyson's "rare and perfect month of June." On every hand are gardens. Whithersoever you turn their fragrance burdens the listless air. Then the neat white cottages embowered in groves of greenest foliage gleam through the grateful shades like lilies tremulous with pure light. Such an air of peace and contentment pervades all things, such radiant faces greet you everywhere that you might in your fancy think it the Nile upon whose banks reclined the Lotos-eaters, soaked in sunshine and forgetfulness, to whom even the image of Isis is but dimly seen through its awful veil. Unfortunately, Salem has no Nile, and the lotos is unknown. Only Wallamet's sluggish waters and that vegetable monstrosity the skunk cabbage, the which might bring oblivion only in death. There is no Comus, with alabaster lamps and fragrant incense, with Phidian statuary and all that sort of thing, although there is a gorgeous specimen of the latter from the workshop of Praxiteles Cook and Phidias Dennis. It surmounts the unfinished Court House, and is composed of three constituent parts—a wench something like eleven feet in height, and twenty feet through her great est diameter, a ponderous sword in one, and a pair of Fairbank's hay scales in the other sturdy hand. So ungainly and blase is this enormous maiden that there comes at once the impression that in a moment of perturbation she eloped from her legal spouse, the Cardiff Giant, with some other woman's husband, perhaps. However that may be, the County Commissioners have passed over her indiscretion in silence, and have exalted her. And thereby hangs a tale.

The gala-week at Salem is well nigh ended. The iris-hued crowds which a few hours since thronged the avenue leading to Wallamet University, seemed to appreciate the fact that to day is the culmination of Commencement Week. Long before the hour advertised for the graduating exercises, the great Chapel was filled to overflowing. It was a pleasant scene.

Promptly at the hour of 2 o'clock President Gatch announced the programme. Prayer by Rev. Isaac Dillon was followed by Mr. Ladru Royal's oration: "Who feel great Truths and tell them." The speaker depicted the trials and sufferings of the earnest explorer after truth, interspersing his well-formed sentences with copious illustrations from the history of the conflicts of science with her arch enemies in the Middle Ages, and ended a brief but very excellent oration with salutation.

"Clouds," an essay by Miss Libby Brown, was a carefully written production, replete with pleasant figures and morals in point.

"Historic Clouds," an essay by Miss Velleda Smith, impressed us very favorably, and won for the reader the hearty applause of the audience.

A discussion on the benefits and evils of corporations as they are, next followed. Mr. Alfred Nichols spoke of "The Present Danger" to the nation, and was followed by Mr. Jas. J. Imbrie, in "Not so Great After All." This discussion was very entertaining. Both disputants argued their respective points with skill, to the entire satisfaction of their adherents.

"We are all immortal till our work is done," was the theme of an excellent essay by Miss Mary J. Jory. Miss J. read in clear, strong accent, and although the title of her essay suggested a rather remarkable theory of immortality its awkwardness did not embarrass the reader, neither did it affect the audience.

"Licht, Mehr Licht," (Light, more Light!) was the beautiful theme of a perfect gem of an essay by Miss Sarah E. Chamberlin. The chaste rhetoric and strong logical tone of this paper made it a production of unusual merit. The fair reader was almost encored.

"Centennial Celebration," by Mr. Robert Eakin, was a plain exposition of the significance of the coming hundredth anniversary of American independence. The speaker deplored the growing indifference among Americans to this grand day, and closed with some sensible plats of reform.

"In the Crucible," was the title of a charming piece of composition by Miss Lydia E Chamberlin. Owing to the vigorous stertorations of a muscular clergyman immediately in our rear, a considerable portion of the Essay, was to us inaudible, but some very handsome passages delighted our tympanum.

"Lo," was the subject of a strong plea for the red man, by Mr. W. H. Miesse. From the tone of his argument we should infer that Mr. Miesse is an earnest advocate of the much abused Peace Policy. He was evidently aware of the fact that his argument ran counter to the prejudices of his auditors. There was much of truth as well as somewhat of error in Mr. M.'s address, but this latter did not prevent a skeptical audience from attesting their appreciation of the literary merit of the oration.

"Atoms," a compact disquisition on the Physical Sciences, by W J. Miller, treated of certain most interesting theories in Natural Philosophy, and contained much original thought.

"Whither?" was the question which was answered by Miss Emily Shattuck in most felicitous style. This lady was cordially greeted on her appearance. We have heard scores of commendatory remarks on the flattering success of her effort.

The last named essay closed the afternoon's entertainment. At its conclusion, crowds of delighted and enthusiastic friends pressed forward to congratulate the graduating class. Hearty greetings were interchanged, some tears were shed, and an hour passed ere the great hall was again vacant.

IN THE EVENING

We witnessed the presentation of diplomas to the graduating class. President Gatch uttered his "Te, Universitatis Willametiæ auctoritate, et socios meos, creo et constituo Baccalaureum in Artibus (or Scientia)" etc., with an impressive fervor. The address to the graduates was delivered by Mr. S. Bowers.

The Valedictory was delivered by Miss Jane Miller. It was an excellent production, and was highly complimented by all. The distinct enunciation of every syllable added largely to the comfort and pleasure of her hearers. At the conclusion of the Valedictory, after the benediction had been pronounced, the final farewells were uttered. The Class of '73 were about to go forth from the nourishing care of Alma Mater, into a world where nourishment is obtained with the greatest of difficulty. Perhaps none of the departing graduates gazed very intently on this view of the matter. They were rather engrossed with a thought of that which was behind, of happy hours in college life, whose complete felicity, however much of success in life may be theirs, will never again return. Doubtless there were among them hearts that swelled high with visions of the future, stretching before them fair and tempting as a huge golden Ophir.

The farewells over, the tears shed and hands regretfully pressed, the Class of '73 passed out to be absorbed in the great outside world. The chapel's lights were extinguished, and as we passed forth we went with pleasant memories of Commencement Week at Wallamet University, in 1873.

THE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

It may not be generally known that the State of Oregon sustains a school for the tuition of the blind. Such is the case, however, and on yesterday the first examination of the pupils took place. An obliging friend, who is also a most able and efficient officer of the present State Administration, has kindly furnished us with the following excellent account of the exercises on the occasion mentioned:

We had the good fortune to have an invitation extended to us to attend the closing exercises which took place at the Blind Institute, on Thursday afternoon, the 26th instant, at which, our first occasion of the kind in a blind school, we were not only pleased and astonished, but must confess, felt and became more interested as the exercises proceeded, than we ever did at any other public examination of any institution—the Deaf and Mute School not even excepted.

Miss Simpson, the blind teacher, addressed the members of the State Board of Education and the friends of the institution in a very able and feeling manner, after which the following programme was carried out:

Instrumental music address by Mr. Brewer, one of the blind scholars vocal and instrumental music, examination in the following branches—geography, arithmetic, spelling, reading and writing, interspersed with music and song, recitation of a poem, by Miss Watkinds, one of the blind scholars.

MUSIC.

Followed by a splendid address by Miss Simpson, the blind teacher, expressing her due appreciation of and gratitude for the favors shown to her pupils and herself by the State, its officers and the citizens of Salem, and soliciting their further support, so as to make this school an institution of the land, as in time, like elsewhere, it should and must become.

Responded to by Hon S. F. Chadwick, Secretary of State, who, in a very nice manner, complimented the teacher, Miss Simpson, for the pains she has taken in instructing the scholars in the different branches of study, which they were examined in, and one and all proved themselves proficient, promising them his support and influence with the State to provide the institution with such means as to make it both a pleasant and useful home for them all.

Ex Mayor Dr. D. Payton then spoke very encouragingly to the pupils of the school, followed by Mr. H. H. Gilfrey and D. Fleischman, who both had for some time watched the progress of the Institution and took pleasure in acknowledging to the teacher and scholars of the Blind School, that they did full satisfaction to the State and honor to themselves.

Miss Simpson then addressed the scholars, thanking them for the love and confidence they bestowed upon her, and imploring them, under all circumstances and under any teacher to attend the school, as education was the true road to light.

Then the closing ode was sung and the audience dismissed.

We should like to expand upon the modus operandi—how the blind are taught to read by touch, spell, write and cypher—but have not the space to spare, and for that reason should advise any and every one, who take any interest in the welfare of the blind, to visit the Blind School, where they will at any time have a chance of seeing the different method from ours ocularly demonstrated.

This meeting was a happy one, the scholars go away to enjoy their vacation with a recollection of having been noticed, encouraged and cordially invited to come back and resume their studies again, while the audience left pleased, satisfied, interested and determined to interest everybody else for the promotion of the welfare of our unfortunate blind.

Miss Nelly Simpson has for years been trying to establish a Blind School, and is one among the very first of its earnest and warmest friends, and during the last session of the Legislature succeeded in having this school created, for which kind act the members of that body will be forever gratefully remembered by the unfortunate blind of the State, and upon us, the people, now devolves the duty of seeing to it that in the future this institution be properly sustained and the blind amply provided for.

Victoria as a Watering Place.

THE SAN JUAN MURDERERS.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 19, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The praises bestowed on the climate and beauties granted by Dame Nature to this "tight little island" of Vancouver have been spread far and wide, and many have predicted that in the future this spot would become the favorite resort—the "Long Branch"—of the favored sons and daughters of Fortune born and reared on the golden shores of the Pacific. If, however, the weather of this season, so far as it has advanced, should be taken as a criterion, the few pleasure-seekers who have recently visited us, and have, perhaps, departed with disappointment, if not disgust, would be perfectly justified in endeavoring to ignore all the claims asserted by Victorians as to Victoria and its surroundings being the most beautiful and desirable spot wherein to reside on the Pacific coast. We would assure such, however, that the past season has been a most exceptionable one, and numerous "oldest inhabitants" can be procured to make affidavits to prove the statement. However, notwithstanding that for the past three weeks we have scarcely had a day without a shower of rain, and the evenings have been cold enough to make a fire very comfortable in one's sitting-room, genial old Sol is now shining brightly and the morn is fair, the skies are clear and the face of Nature decked with beauty—and for beautiful scenery, (both sea and landscape) delightful drives and splendid roads, and charming picnic excursions and all the delicious clooteras and accompaniments associated therewith, your correspondent would assure intending visitors Victoria, Vancouver's Island, cannot be excelled.

Of course the Victoria papers have kept you posted in reference to the brutal double murder at San Juan Island. As your correspondent intimated in his communication giving you particulars of the murder, the Hydrah Indians had no hand in it. One Joe, a Kanaka, on Monday last, being the only one of those who had been arrested on suspicion that was not liberated by the Magistrate, made a confession implicating one Charley, a Songish Indian, as the murderer of both Dwyer and his wife. Charley happened to come to Victoria from a neighboring island that day and was immediately arrested, denying, of course, Joe's assertions. The next day Joe was permitted to go with an officer to a spot where he asserted the watches of the murdered man and his wife were secreted by himself at the request of Indian Charley, and they were discovered. Subsequently, as you will perceive by the extracts from to day's paper, which I inclose, Joe has acknowledged himself to be the guilty one. It is a source of great relief to the whole of the community to know that this tragical mystery is about to be fully explained. English law demands strict justice, without prejudice or partiality, and the same consideration is given to a poor Kanaka or Indian as to the highest citizen of the land. Hence the delay in delivering over any party by the legal authority here to the jurisdiction of the United States or any other foreign power merely on suspicion. After a careful, thorough investigation here, those intrusted with the carrying out of the law on your side, will have very little difficulty in rightly disposing of the case and meting out justice to the blood thirsty, reckless villains who perpetrated the horrid deed.

H

Inspecting Brains

The English papers are teeming with a discovery which is to revolutionize our ideas on a very important branch of human anatomy. A Dr. Ferrier, resident at Dundee, Scotland, and a distinguished alumnus of Aberdeen University, having laid in a good supply of cats and dogs, retired to the solitude of his cottage home, and commenced to study the workings of the human brains, through the light afforded by the craniums of the aforesaid animals. Having placed Tabby and Tray under the influence of chloroform, he carefully removed the skull, laying bare for inspection both lobes of the brain. The operation is not a new one; it has often been performed before, and the patient, though slightly incommoded, will live from four hours to as many days.

The difficulty has heretofore been to proceed any further with the examination. The anæsthetic had produced complete insensibility, so that no action of the brain could be perceived, and the restoration of consciousness, or any attempt to examine into the brain structure, was followed by the immediate loss of life. This difficulty Dr. Ferrier is alleged to have overcome by borrowing from the discoveries of Professor Faraday. By the process of faradizing—the application of the point of an electrode to a convolution of the brain—a normal activity is produced upon that point, communicated to the nerves, and hence to the muscles.

The sublime results of the discovery can be imagined at once. For instance, the delighted doctor has found a particular portion of the brain of his cats and dogs which, whenever touched by the electrode, immediately produces a wagging of the tail. Conceive the mortified vanity of the phrenologists when he adds to their bump collection that of the "wag tail!" And speaking of phrenologists, the doctor's discovery is making sad havoc with their maps and charts. He insists, for instance, that the main, if not the only, use of the cerebellum—that organ hitherto worshipped as the seat of amativeness and philoprogenitiveness—is simply to move the muscles of the eye. Humanity will never forgive the doctor for dispelling this fond illusion. It was so pleasant, on such a night as Cressida sighed her soul into the Grecian tents, to whisper softly in Amaryllis' ear "Sweetest, my cerebellum moves me to a tale of love." What further application the discovery may have remains to be seen. We note with pleasure that Professor Huxley has moved the Royal Society to advance funds to Dr Ferrier to enable him to prosecute his experiments with moneys, those being the nearest available subjects to the human race. We are not certain but an active effort might result in tendering the captured Modocs to the scientific Doctor. It would be pleasant to know what organ impels their murders and marauding. A system of compressive clamps applied to the outer skull might then solve the Indian problem.—N. Y. Times

DANBURY ON CHICAGO.—Mr Bailey, of the Danbury News, who is surveying the wonders of the West, writes as follows of Chicago Here are not only hotels, completed and in course of completion, which rival the best in the world, but here are block after block of business houses which have no superiors. Immense structures of masonry and iron are as common as the three-story brick tenements in New York. On every side is black walnut and glass and iron and granite and hod-carriers. Everything is new. This newness is rather painful at first but is soon swallowed up in the wonder and admiration which follows. Chicago is on a prairie, and consequently the streets are dead level, and straight as an arrow. Its newspapers are widely known, and some of them have grand offices. When a New York paper puts up a fine office, it announces it repeatedly before the plans are drawn, and other papers speak of it, and the country is generally stirred up and made miserable on account of it. The Chicago newspaper men don't do so. They don't say anything about it until their building is done and occupied, and yet, with a single exception, that of the Herald, they have finer offices than their New York cotemporaries. Your correspondent has met some of the people, and finds them as genial as their enterprise is undisputed. A hitching-post is a rarity here. When an Eastern man comes across a hitching-post in Chicago, he sits down and cries. They fasten horses by a strap to an iron weight which is left on the walk. The weights occupy a prominent position in a runaway. When a Chicago man sees a runaway horse coming along his street he don't stop to inquire whether it was the result of carelessness or accident. He merely says, "Heaven protect us!" and crawls under a stoop.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN GREAT BRITAIN.—A memorial signed by 11,500 women (9,000 of England and Ireland, and 2,500 of Scotland) has been addressed to Mr. Disraeli on the subject of the Women's Disabilities bill, which was recently defeated for the fourth or fifth time in the English Parliament. In his reply, Mr. Disraeli says that he hopes Parliament will soon abolish the anomaly that the Parliamentary franchise attached to a household or property qualification, when possessed by a woman, should not be exercised, though in all matters of local government, when similarly qualified, she enjoys this right. The memorial was signed by Miss Florence Nightingale, Miss Martineau, Miss Cobbe, Lady Anna Gore Langton, and many other distinguished ladies.

"Is Duelling Really Barbarous?" is the suggestive heading of a leading editorial in the Atlanta (Ga.) Herald, which goes on to discourse in defense of the chivalrous code in this style "It was a sad thing to be overcome in battle and forced to surrender our arms to the conqueror, but a sadder day awaits us when we shall allow the customs of our enemies to be engrafted on our society, causing the civilization which was once our pride and boast, to give way to their so-called higher law civilization."

For Sale,

850,000 Acres of Land

IN SOUTHERN OREGON.

Title Perfect—U. S. Land Grant Fully Confirmed.

THE "PACIFIC LAND COMPANY," INCORPORated with capital stock of 5,000 shares of par value of $240 each, have purchased the road and entire land grant of the "OREGON CENTRAL MILITARY ROAD COMPANY," consisting of over 850,000 acres of Agricultural, Grazing & Timber Lands,

Passing from Eugene City (125 miles from Portland by Railroad), through the splendid "Lake Country," to Silver City, near the border of Idaho.

Each share of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY thus representing now over 160 acres of land, and is UNASSESSABLE.

Three thousand shares belong to the Company, and will be offered for sale by us, the entire proceeds of which will go into the Treasury.

The first one thousand shares will be offered at $120 per share, United States Currency, or at the rate of 75 cents per acre. Every share will also be received at its par value of $240, in payment for land, as soon as the appraisals are made. Such share will then be cancelled, and not reissued, and a deed given to the purchaser.

The land will be appraised at moderate rates, in accordance with its actual value, as soon as practicable, in sections of 640 acres, and at not less than $1 50 per acre, U S Currency, and offered for sale. Actual settlers, however, always having preference.

We refer, as to the character of this magnificent grant of land, to CLARENCE KING, Esq, the U. S Geologist for this coast, who is familiar with it from personal observation; also to the elaborate report of the Hon B. J. Pengra, late Surveyor General of Oregon, on this road and lands, from which we quote "There is but very little of the entire grant but what is valuable for either Farming, Grazing or Lumbering purposes."

As shares are cancelled, the average of acres to the remaining shares will naturally increase, and from cash sales dividends will be declared.

IMMIGRANTS,

BY BUYING THESE SHARES, CAN SECURE GOOD LANDS, WITH PERFECT TITLE, AT LESS THAN GOVERNMENT RATES

To Custodians of Trust Funds, the shares of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY combine absolute security, based on the lands, with promise of large returns, and no investment can be better for CHILDREN as the value of the property must increase immensely in a few years

Remittances for shares can be sent to us by Wells, Fargo & Co., or in registered letters.

Full particulars, maps and a descriptive pamphlet can be obtained at our office, where the subscription book for the shares is now open.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 28, 1873.

CITY.

The Cubic Air Ordinance.—Some time ago the Common Council passed an ordinance relating specially to the Chinese of this city. This [illegible] ordains that for the purpose of preventing [illegible] and preserving health it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to use any tenement [illegible] or other building, used as a sleeping apartment, within the city limits, which contains less than five hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space for each and every person lodging in such house or apartment. It further states that every person violating this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50 for each offense, or by imprisonment in the city jail, not exceeding ten days. It makes it the duty of the police force to make examination of premises where they have reason to believe crowded houses exist, and if persons are found violating the ordinance, to arrest them and bring them before the Police Judge. In compliance with the provisions of this ordinance, the policemen made an extensive raid on the Chinese quarters located in different portions of the city, during Thursday evening, and captured 53 persons. On Alder street 15 [illegible] were found by officers Hudson and Merrill, occupying quarters so limited that, instead of allowing 550 cubic feet to each person, there was less than 300 feet. They roused these slumbering [illegible] and escorted them to the city jail to await trial for a violation of Ordinance No 1,347. But a short time afterward, officers Shoeppe and [illegible] swooped down on a rookery on First street, between B and C. Here they found six [illegible] able bodied fellows snoring loud enough to disturb the slumbers of the famous "Seven Sleepers," occupying lodgings where each Chinaman did not have more than 150 cubic feet of space. These fellows were shaken up, [illegible] out of their blankets, and their visions of rice and rats rudely disturbed, and they were taken to jail. These two last [illegible] officers soon after discovered another [illegible] huddled and jammed in together like sardines, in low, dirty and unhealthy [illegible], where each person was scarcely allowed over 100 cubic feet.

Yesterday morning fifty-three Celestials were [illegible] in the Police Court, on a charge of violating the "Cubic Air Ordinance." The guilt of the motley crowd of defendants, individually and collectively, was established beyond all question, and the Court proceeded to impose a fine of $5 on every one. Out of the fifty-three but two have liquidated the fine, and the rest will take the opposite [illegible], go to jail for three days. For a long [illegible] Johns felt themselves greatly outraged [illegible] actions of authority on the part of [illegible] in pulling them out of warm, comfortable [illegible] at the dead hour of night, and in [illegible] without the least apparent provocation, [illegible] an interpreter was thoroughly in[illegible] to the character and extent of the misdemeanor [illegible] by the defendants, and that [illegible]. At present they are all [illegible] like so many sheep in the [illegible] of the jail.

Two Brave Girls.—If that frail compound of [illegible], had half the industry and energy [illegible] of our whole women have, [illegible] would not be so bad as [illegible]. As an instance of this, we [illegible] circumstance, the [illegible] has just reached us: Two [illegible] of this city started on [illegible] friends who reside a few [illegible], on the eastern side of the [illegible] in an open buggy, and [illegible] passed, a heavy [illegible] nothing the young [illegible] but notwithstanding this [illegible] of the journey, the [illegible] course of time [illegible] friend, where all the [illegible] a heartily ten[illegible] the night in a very [illegible] friends, the [illegible] a kind adieu yes[illegible] for the river. Their [illegible] opposite Oswego [illegible] the boat, bound for Portland. But [illegible] in their calculations. [illegible] when, on arriving on the [illegible] they discovered that the [illegible] at Oswego, and was backing [illegible] would have [illegible] arrived another day, [illegible] on to the station and waited [illegible] train. Not so, however, with [illegible]. Baffled in one direction, they [illegible] wits to bear in devising [illegible] the exigencies of the case. [illegible] and, after a few minutes consultation, [illegible] the river to the western shore. [illegible] them for a short time, they discovered a [illegible]. Into the craft the heroic girls [illegible] a few minutes vigorous exercise [illegible] the opposite shore was gained. Fasten[illegible] to a stump, the young ladies climbed [illegible] of the bank. Where they happened to [illegible] a splendid patch of ripe blackberries [illegible] a gallon of these delicious berries were [illegible] by the deft fingers of the girls and placed [illegible] baskets. They then started to [illegible] to Portland, and complete the entire distance [illegible] arriving in the city but a short time after [illegible], which had left them in the lurch, [illegible]. The berries which had been gath[illegible] the long and wearisome walk, were [illegible], cooked, and the young ladies had the [illegible] of eating a portion of the pies made [illegible] for dinner. These young ladies so [illegible] a feat which many of their lilly faced [illegible], and some of the kid gloved gentry would [illegible] from attempting.

Social Reunion.—Immediately after the Commencement exercises last evening at the M. E. Church, the graduates, pupils of the Portland Academy, a number of parents, friends and invited guests repaired to the Academy building, to participate in a social reunion. About 200 [illegible] assembled in the upper story of the institution. When everything was quiet, Mr. W. W. Upton, Jr., one of the graduates of 1869, [illegible] an oration on the "Rise and Progress of the Portland Academy," being a brief review of the history of the institution. He was followed [illegible] a recitation by Miss Mattie Groomes, [illegible] of the class of 1872. At the conclusion [illegible] recitation Professor Royal awarded a [illegible] to Miss Mary De Vore, for proficiency in the Normal course. The large assembly was then invited to repair to the lower [illegible] and partake of refreshments, a bountiful [illegible] which had been provided. After the [illegible] time was spent in singing and social [illegible], when the gathering dispersed, [illegible] by the evening's pleasures.

New Building.—The old wooden tenement on First street, between Alder and Washington, and long used as a restaurant, will be removed from its present location in a few days, to make room for a handsome, costly, enduring and pretentious building. A number of workmen commenced yesterday to tear down the partitions and hoist the building, so that the old decayed foundation can be [illegible] on rollers and removed to some less prominent location. Mr. J. L. Parrish, of Salem, who owns the ground and building, contemplates the erection of a large two story brick edifice on the site during the present season. When the [illegible] building is removed, a number of workmen will begin excavation at once.

Search for Survivors.—The Olympia Echo has the following: "We understand that Mrs. [illegible], wife of the late John Sutton, of Portland, who was lost with the ill-fated Wright, has petitioned the Government to send a vessel in search of [illegible] remnant of the lost steamer, or any definite [illegible] concerning her loss. We sincerely [illegible] her petition will be granted. We have [illegible] from the first that there was a cruel neglect on the part of those who had the authority, not to have sent out cruisers long ago, in search of [illegible] of lost citizens; it was the very least that [illegible] have been done in behalf of bereaved [illegible], especially when steamships were lying idle near by."

Sailed.—The steamer John L. Stephens sailed last evening for San Francisco with the following [illegible]: Reel Everding, Jacob Fraser, G W [illegible], W H Diggins, Rev Benjamin Akerly, E [illegible] [illegible]bush, Dr Webb, A Rutherford, Isaac [illegible], L S Thomas, G T Woodward, A Borch[illegible], [illegible] Laidlaw, A Schlussel and wife, C May, L M Gay, Miss Kate Mountain, Miss Sarah West[illegible], Miss Yardley, A Booth, Mr Putnam, Dr G H [illegible] and wife, J W Spellman and wife, J W [illegible], Mrs. Parsons and 4 children, Mrs Mary Dike, Miss Butler, Miss Murphy, Wm C Butler, W F & Co's messenger and 30 in the steerage.

Quarterly Examination.—As provided by law, an opportunity is given any person desiring [illegible] as a teacher, in Multnomah county, [illegible] the same by examination. Place, the [illegible] School House; time, to day (June 28th), [illegible] A. M. to 4 P. M.

T. L. ELIOT,
County Superintendent.

Closing Exercises.—Yesterday afternoon, at the North Portland School, Prof. S. W. King Principal, the annual exhibition was held. The scholars appeared in a series of exercises in which they displayed an advanced state of improvement. A large number of persons were present to witness the closing exercises, which proved to be of a most interesting character. The Principal and his assistants have shown much attention in their relative positions to the advantage of those attending this school.

Exchange Pulpits.—To-morrow there will be no services held at the First Baptist Church, owing to the absence of the pastor; Rev. Mr. Medbury. After next Sunday, until the return of the pastor, the pulpit will be filled by Dr. Freeman, of Seattle. During his absence from the city, Mr Medbury will occupy Dr. Freeman's pulpit at Seattle.

Spophoth Glee Club.—This club furnished music last evening at the Taylor Street M. E. Church on the occasion of the graduating exercises. The Spophoth Club is under the leadership of Prof. Geo. P. Newell. The music furnished during the evening was really superior, although several members of the Club were absent.

Asylum Visited.—In accordance with the requirements of law, the Grand Jury, now in session, visited in a body the Insane Asylum yesterday, to inspect its present condition and report as to the general management of that institution. Everything was found entirely satisfactory to the Grand Jurors, we are informed.

"Cause Unknown."—The statement was made that the cause which led to the death of the late Wm. Blackistone, was the excessive use of intoxicating liquor. We are assured, by one of the jurors, that the cause, so far as could be ascertained, was unknown to the jury and Coroner.

Sacred Concerts.—The choir who contemplate the giving of a series of sacred concerts in the new Trinity Church, are making every preparation to hold the same during the coming week. At present the intention is to hold concerts on the evenings of the 1st and 3d of July.

Soon Ready.—A number of workmen are engaged in repairing the steamer Annie Stewart. The deck is being rapidly recaulked and the boat will be in readiness to assume the line between Kalama and Portland in a few days.

No Service.—There will be no service to-morrow at the First Presbyterian Church in consequence of the absence of the pastor Rev. A. L. Lindsley.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The Commencement Exercises of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary came off last evening at the Taylor Street M. E. Church, commencing at 7:30. Several hundred persons inclusive of friends and patrons of the institution, were present during the exercises, which were of an interesting character throughout. The graduates for the present year were Miss Carrie F. Caples and Miss M. DeVore. At precisely half past seven the exercises commenced. The following is the programme of the evening:

Prayer by the Rev. Wm. Roberts.

Singing by the Quartette.

Essay by Miss Mary DeVore—subject, "Life's Endeavor."

Singing by the Quartette—"Deep Rolling Clouds."

Essay by Miss Carrie F. Caples—"The Old Beaten Pathway."

Singing by Quartette "Nearer Home."

Address to the Graduating Class by Professor Royal.

Presentation of Diplomas by Rev. Wm. Roberts, President of the Academy.

Graduates' Farewell, sung by the Misses Caples and DeVore, Messrs. Johnson and Royal.

This was followed by the Doxology and Benediction, when the graduates and invited friends adjourned to the Academy to join in the Social Reunion.

BASE BALL.

A colored Base Ball Club is talked of.

Owing to late defeats, the Boston nine has been reconstructed.

June 17, at Baltimore: Olympics, of Washington City, 6; Baltimores, 7.

A rumor is in circulation that the Forest Grove Base Ball Club of Washington county proposes challenging the Pacifics of Portland.

Owing to the absence of several valuable players the Pacific Club had to postpone their trip to Oregon City to day. The game will be played some day next week.

The Pioneers, consisting of Thompson, Bird, Gearin, Hart, Raleigh, Wiley, Sutherland and Thielsen—the two latter substitutes for Buchtel and Whiting—went up on last evening's train to Salem, where they play College Club this morning. Lowndale, who has been in Salem, will assist in doing good work to day. The nine is weakened by the change in the players, and it will not surprise us if they meet with defeat under the circumstances.

PERSONAL.

Bosco is doing Clatsop, photographically.

Jas. O'Meara, Esq., is living a quiet life at Aurora.

Mayor VanCleave of Albany is in the city, and gave us a call last evening.

Isaac Barman, a resident of this city for many years, has gone East. He sailed on the steamer last evening.

Mrs. F. F. Victor is at present traveling in Southern Oregon, collecting material for further literary works.

Capt Thos. J. Forbes, of the bark Jane A. Falkinberg, was married to a Miss Helen J. Goodchild at San Francisco on the 21st inst.

W. H. Effinger, Esq., one of the prominent members of the Portland bar, returned to the city yesterday from a professional visit to the Dalles.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.

FRIDAY, June 27, 1873.

Smith, Chaplin & Co., vs J. Kraemer; cause argued and submitted.

All jurors not on present panel excused until Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

William A. Brown, juror, was excused for the term.

The grand jury presented two bills of indictment.

State vs George Wagner; not a true bill.

State vs John Wills; not a true bill.

Adjourned.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL.

The Waldron Troupe is in Eastern Idaho.

Nellie Cummings is still at the California Theater.

John Wilson's Circus is traveling through Interior California.

Frank Mayo, once a favorite here, is to appear at the California Theater shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird have leased the new Pioche Nevada Theater. Mrs. Carrie Carter is in the company.

Figaro, speaking of S. W. Piercy as McClosky, says: "He played the part about as well as Waldron himself could have done."

AMUSEMENTS.

The Sunday School pupils connected with St Stephen's Chapel will hold a picnic to day in the East Portland Park.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hurgren & Shindler.

"I say, Tom, that is a nobby suit you have on! I declare I've been trying to get something that will fit me to a dot, and that I can depend on to wear well. Where did you buy them?" "I was passing along First street, last week, and as I turned the corner of Washington street I noticed some fine cloths and furnishing goods. The attraction was so great that I stepped inside, and after selecting the materials, I ordered what may be termed an elegant fitting suit. The place is Fishel & Roberts."

If you want pure, fine liquors of any kind, go to E D Tyne's, northwest corner of Oak and First streets, agent for the sale of Jessie Moore & Co.'s fine Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies of Louisville, Ky.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional murder or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Several vessels due.

Letter list on fourth page.

Street cleaning is in order.

A slight shower fell yesterday.

Considerable drift wood passing.

Dearth of amusements at present.

Re unions very common at present.

Order your Sunday supplies at Quinn's.

Ice factory will be in full blast in a few days.

The Circuit Court drags its weary length along.

Operatic airs and coffee at Fabre's this evening.

Garibaldi and Forward are both discharging cargo.

Yamhill street is being opened from Twelfth to Lownsdale.

Large quantities of wool shipped on the John L. Stephens.

San Francisco steamer will sail for Portland this morning.

A general raid was made yesterday on the Chinese quarters.

At Salem this morning—the Pioneer vs College Base Ball Clubs.

Mr. Therkelsen, the builder, has several big contracts on hand.

Two bills of indictment were returned yesterday by the grand jury.

Walling is printing the annual paper for the Commercial College.

Immense quantities of cordwood are arriving from down the river.

Brig Kolua and bark Rival on the way to this port from San Francisco.

Carter's new building, corner of Front and Alder, is ready for occupancy.

The "sizzle" of the soda fountain is not often heard—the weather is too cool.

Skidmore, the druggist, will move to the store lately occupied by Harris & Blum.

The ship Middlesex, due next week, is under charter to Messrs. Laidlaw & Gate.

The steamer Gussie Telfair is still lying on the ways at Victoria, getting "half soled."

Don't pack yourself in a sardine box or you may suffer, as the Chinamen did yesterday morning.

Masons have begun to rebuild the brick walls of Mr. Corbett's building at the corner of Front and Alder.

The several committees are busy in making and completing arrangements to celebrate the coming Fourth.

If the weather is at all pleasant, quite a party of sea siders will leave on Monday's boat, Astoriawards.

The Hook and Ladder Company, we understand, intend to turn out on the Fourth and join the parade.

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," and there will be some charming to-night at the Central Market.

A very lively opposition still exists between Portland and Vancouver, between the steamers Carrie and Oneatta.

Mayor Failing is having a magnificent residence erected on the vacant block west of Fifth street, between Salmon and Taylor.

"Cast thy bread upon the waters" must have been uppermost in the mind of the fellow who tossed three large loaves into the river yesterday from the stoop of the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

The vigorous enforcement of the provisions of the new Chinese ordinance will have the wholesome sanitary effect to make these denizens "scatter out."

Nothing whatever can be pasted or attached to a postal card without subjecting it to letter rates of postage. The information desired to be given by postal cards must be written or printed on the card itself.

The selection of the Skating Rink as the place where the exercises of the Fourth will be held meets with the general approbation of the public. A long, weary tramp and standing in the hot sun during the exercises will thus be avoided.

It is gratifying to state that Deputy County Clerk J. A. Waters has secured the services of a female assistant. His wife presented him with a fine daughter the other day, weighing 10½ pounds, for which the proud father's delight knows no bounds.

FASHIONABLE NOTES.

Bronze jewelry is one of the latest novelties.

Croakers predict a dull season at the large watering places.

The most beautiful tortoise-shell jewelry in the world is made in Naples.

A woman's modesty is like her color—extremely becoming if not put on.

Very brilliant jewelry is made of the heads of Brazilian humming-birds set in gold.

A ladies' boat club has been organized in Philadelphia, and seems to be a great success.

The Commencement season has begun, and the voice of the graduate is heard in the land.

The people who spend most money at watering-places are the old men with young wives.

The latest thing in marriage announcements reads thus. "No cards. No presents. No divorce."

The most stylish young ladies in town have struck against the tyranny of the milliners, and make their own bonnets.

Croquet still continues in favor, and surreptitious hoops still entrap the feet of unwary wanderers on shady lawns.

"The British House of Lords," says an Eastern paper, "has just decided that a man cannot marry his widow's sister."

What more precious thing can a man have than the first love of an innocent girl—with an undivided interest in fourteen boulevard lots.

During the warm weather the principal occupation of the "girl of the period" seems to be sitting on the stoop waiting for the "coming man."

A New York lady wears a set of Etruscan jewelry made over a thousand years ago, which is pronounced superior in design and finish to anything made at present.

A Parisian musical dictionary declines a shout to be "an unpleasant noise produced by overstraining the throat, for which great singers are well paid and small children well punished."

Talk about the length of time it takes to "get ready." A New York young lady, who was invited unexpectedly at ten o'clock at night to go to Europe for a year, and sailed at eight the following morning.

Pearls require airing as much as horses and babies. Unless they are constantly worn they change color, and finally crumble to pieces. This is not the case with diamonds, though many New York ladies act as if they thought it was.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Richardson, the famous knight of the hammer, will sell some very valuable real estate this morning. Read his proclamation in another column.

We refer our readers to the advertisement in another column of the March Truss Co., of San Francisco, an institution that has gained considerable reputation by their many remarkable cures of Rupture. This Co. is a branch of the celebrated House of March & Co., New York, which has a reputation of nearly forty years and are endorsed by the Medical Faculty wherever they have established branches. We commend this Company to our Ruptured friends, feeling assured they will receive the only legitimate cure for Hernia (Rupture). This Company does not use any worthless washes called "curative compounds" that has never cured Rupture, and are calculated to deceive. Their office is at 511 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Don't go about with shabby clothes while an opportunity is afforded you to obtain wearing apparel at only a nominal sum. You miss a splendid chance to get a suit of clothing cheap when you fail to call on J. Kohn & Co., 91 Front street, where the counters are crowded with the very latest styles. Twenty dollars will buy a fine outfit there.

If Johnson's Anodyn Liniment is half as valuable as people say it is, no family should be without it. Certainly no person, be he lawyer, doctor, minister, or of any other profession should start on a journey without it. No sailor, fisherman or woodsman should be without it. In fact, it is needed wherever there is an ache, sprain, cut, bruise, cough or cold.

Farmers and Horse Men are continually telling us what we know of the utility of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, and in reply we would say, through the columns of the [illegible], that we have heard from hundreds who have used them with gratifying results, that is also our experience.

He is Truly a Stump Speaker who, when talking, exhibits a mouthful of stumps. If you would keep your dental fixtures in perfect talking order, use the fragrant Sozodont daily, the receipt is simple but sure.

Now a[illegible] down the hills all glowing,
  Fair morn shakes her hair thro' the pines!
And [illegible] wood-song and stream-song in rhymes
Comes [illegible] and sweet in their flowing

Mountain air fresh delicious floats,
  Rhythming rich notes of woman and song-bird.
O, exquisite more than I've long heard
From sensitive music-[illegible] throats

Thro' the oaks you steeple [illegible] lonely,
  The College shines white thro' the trees,
And farm-houses—the homes I love only—
  Dot the plains as gulls the green seas.

Where erst brown braves, swift in their roaming,
  Their wigwams upreared by the stream,
And Indian girls sang in the gloaming,
  "Winds Tualatin thro' groves evergreen"

O, the flower seas white crimson, golden,
  So the Plains foam purple like wine,
While Hood, gray and cloud kissed and olden,
  Rears his white head 'mong blue seas sublime

Oh, when shall I see you again,
  Dear scenes! Ah the fierce tears they roll,
And their iron must enter my soul
  In sorrow my heart answers, "when?"

THE PRESENT DANGER.

[From the Graduating Oration of Mr. Alfred Nichols, delivered on Commencement Day at Wallamet University, Thursday, June 26, 1873.

The mightiest monarch of this earth is gold. His dominion is circumscribed by no bounds. his power is almost omnipotent. At his command cities rise like exhalations from the ground, long lines of railroads stretch in endless perspective, nations are marshaled in arms, and the navies of the earth whiten the seas.

Beneficent power, thus to set in motion the activities of a world! Alas! "it is not all gold that glitters." This power, so beneficent in its agencies to man, may become a tyrant more absolute than Russian Czar or Asiatic despot. Nay, more, it may become an agent of destruction, in the overthrow of American institutions and American liberty, more potent than Goth or Vandal in the downfall of Rome.

Half a century of general prosperity, notwithstanding the drawbacks of war, has filled America with vast accumulations of individual and corporate wealth. There are persons here to day, no doubt, who can remember with what wonder the marvelous wealth of a Girard or an Astor were spoken of in their youth. Yet the hoards of a Girard were small, compared with those of a Stewart, a Vanderbilt, or a Drew. And still more individual wealth shrinks in comparison with the immense treasures of consolidated corporations which count their capital by hundreds of millions of dollars.

And if we consider the aggregate capital of the sixty thousand miles of railroad in the United States, reaching its thousands of millions, we may comprehend, in some degree, the stupendous power these corporations combined could wield for evil as well as for good. What State or National Legislature could withstand it? Will it be said that no danger could possibly arise to the State from these corporations, since they are dependent upon the State for protection? I answer, the danger is already at the door. Already their powerful influence has been exerted upon the Legislatures of different States.

For more than twenty five years New Jersey has been controlled by a railroad corporation, until, losing her own identity even, she has been styled in derision "the State of Camden and Amboy"

Who has forgotten the iniquitous legislation of New York, by which the infamous robbery of Jim Fisk was legalized, while Judges on the bench, subsidized by his gold, "reversed the decisions of justice"? Who does not know that to day Tom Scott, wielding more than four hundred millions of consolidated capital, controls, in the interest of railroads, the great State of Pennsylvania?

Is there, then, no danger to the State from these gigantic corporations, when even now the very air is rife with charges of corruption, peculation and fraud?

"Every man has his price" said the British statesman. Living in a venal age, himself an accomplished master in the arts of bribery, this was his estimate of the weakness of human nature and the power of gold. Recent developments in our national life would seem to give weight to this sneer at human character.

What do we see? Names rendered illustrious by high place, eminent ability and long service in our national councils, tarnished for the sake of a "miserable mess of pottage," a handful of gold. We see the highest positions—positions which demand men of the loftiest character, and of pre eminent ability—sold like stocks in the marts of trade. We see "oh, shame, hide thy blush?"—we see an assemblage of men, the makers of our laws, sitting in the seats of the Fathers of the Republic, with one hand unlocking the public treasury, while with the other they clutch, with greedy air, the coveted treasure.

> "Can such things be,
> And overcome us like a summer's cloud,
> Without our special wonder?"

In view of these facts, I ask, Have the members of our Legislatures, State and National, become so familiar with wrong doing that corruption and dishonesty have lost their significance to them? Has the moral sentiment of the nation deteriorated? Is human nature worse than in the early days of the Republic?

No: but the opportunities for wrong-doing have been multiplied, and the temptations to individual cupidity increased a thousand fold, by the vast enterprises of railroads, mining and banking corporations, with their immense accumulations of capital.

The "irrepressible conflict" with slavery has been fought, and slavery is dead. The irrepressible conflict of to day is with concentrated wealth. The contest has already begun. The armies are arrayed. On the one hand are the people, contending for their private interests, for the purity of their Courts, and for the supremacy of their laws and Government. On the other, with bold and aggressive front, are gigantic corporations and their minions, fortified by franchises and subsidies, wrested from the people by fraud and corruption, fighting for plunder, for conquest, and for extended rule.

The result of the conflict it is not difficult to foresee. As slavery gave way to freedom, so the haughty pride and power of corporate wealth must recede and bow before the majesty of an uprisen people.

Fears of Short Crops.—A Washington special says. Accounts are now in from enough of the wheat growing States to show that the crop of this year will, in all probability, be less than half of what it was last year. In Western New York, and in fact along the entire lake region of the country, winter wheat is, as might have been expected from the unusual severity of the past season, almost a total failure. Other crops have also been severely injured by the late spring. The long continued wet weather continues in Iowa, and the crops are suffering greatly. There is every reason to believe that, with the exception of the fruit crops, all others will be very short, the deficiency being especially heavy in cereals. In fact, 1873, will probably be the worst year we have had since the beginning of the war. The wheat crop is already being harvested in the Southern States, and as far north as the Shenandoah Valley. In some cases it has been very fair, but, by the time the great belt of the Southern States is reached, it is believed that the falling of the crop will be such as will astonish the country, and affect the financial situation.

A English Millionaire.—When people talk about millionaires they usually mention Rothschild first, but there is a man in England by the name of Ward, in comparison with whom any Rothschild is a pauper. This man Ward inherits a vast property, accumulated investments and estates, which gives him an enormous income. he has the most magnificent house in London, the finest collection of art, and the finest country seats in the Kingdom, his wife is celebrated for beauty, and her display of diamonds at the recent festival given by the Emperor of Austria, in Vienna, made all the other ladies, the Empresses, Queens and Princesses, look poor. What the income of this British Crœsus is we have never seen any statement of, but a Manchester paper gives an account of his annual profits derived from his coal mines, which amount to the enormous sum of £4,000 000. So the income from one source alone of this inordinately wealthy person is not much short of twenty-five millions of dollars a year.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere, and by HODGE, CALEF & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Portland, Sole Agents for Oregon.

POEM

Read before the Alumni Association of Willamette University, Wednesday Evening, June 25, 1873.

BY SAM. L. SIMPSON.

With trailing lance and battle stain
We come from many a path of pain
Where wrestling factions live at war,
Forever clash with angry jar
Home from the front, our brief respite
Must breathe no odor of the fight

No haughty banners now we bear,
Whose rustling challenge woke the air.
Hushed is the moan of bitterness—
Unheard the vaunting of success
With olive crowns of truce we come—
Defeat and victory are one.

Hail, Holy Mother! here we bring
All that is left of wandering
With wounded pace and broken file,
Returning still to crave thy smile
Whose radiance like stars we wear
Through all the fortunes of the year

"What of the night?" she fain would ask,
"What of the long and cruel task?
What of the sword and armor bright
I gave to shield you through the fight?
Thy brothers, sisters, why delay
Their coming feet along the way?"

The night was wilder than we dreamed,
The task was harder than it seemed,
Thy gallant armor served us well
When many a shower of trouble fell
Our brothers, sisters,—scattered wide,
Full many struggle with the tide

Amidst the tumult of the day,
A few fell, weary by the way.
No touch could rouse them,—we did weep
To leave them lingering still in sleep.
Soothed in the daisied lap of Earth,
They know no anger, pain or mirth.

The summer sky with tender grace
Stoops o'er each hallowed resting place,
The fragrant woof of flower and spray
Makes them forgetful of the clay,
And straying Zephyr softly says—
"Wait not for them whom Death delays"

Ah! fair Pauline, if worth could charm
The march of Death or stay his arm,
Thy sad, poetic eye to-day
Would warm us with its friendly ray,
And Addie's mild and winning face
Shine on us from yon vacant space.

Could manhood's bold, aspiring heart
Repel the lurking monster's dart,
The world's tough problems yet might know
The strength of Alva's honest blow.
Nor I had twined this drooping wreath
So illy matched with those beneath

II.

The Summer, couched upon the hills,
Dreams on in happy, golden moods.
Her yellow tresses float in rills
And tangle in the drowsy woods.

Yet somewhere in the azure world,
The winds a dying truce may keep—
Somewhere the tempest's wings are furled,
Somewhere the sheathed lightnings sleep.

And knowing this, we always turn
A kinder face upon the one
Whose incense wastes within its urn,
Whose fragrant life is swiftly run.

The breadth of Immortality
But withers human thought,—we love
The Summer smouldering on the lea,
The mournful death-song of the dove

Torn from the Book of Time, the hour
Whirls glimmering through the vault of years,
More lovely for the night that lowers,
And painted with the doom it nears.

Who shall repair what fate has torn—
The scattered petals of our morn restore?
Ah! in the womb of years reborn,
Our Past shall blossom nevermore!

Along the misty coasts that sweep
Forever in the dim advance,
The pilgrim spirit shall not meet
The vanished group of Circumstance:

Yet often when the day declines,
And twilight's purple hush has come,
The school bell's sweet, familiar chimes
Across the gulf are gently swung.

Blown o'er the mountain's smoky crest,
Young voices fill the pleasant void.
The waves of laughter,—rippling zest
Of life and labor are enjoyed.

Not dead, but distant, then they seem,
Those careless merry days of old,
Whose drifting echoes round us teem
And ring like rhythmic bells of gold.

Amid the iron speech of war
Their music is not wholly lost,
Subdued beneath that angry star
Where manhood's sterner fates are tossed.

Oh! when you paint a Heaven for me,
With clustering pleasures brightly strewn,
Restore from faithful memory
Some semblance of that happy zone

Where first the chrysalis of thought
Rose flashing from its orb of night,
Where Friendship's gordian tie was wrought
Of hearts that mingled free as light.

III.

We are met to be merry, dear friends, and must turn
From stars now extinguished to others that burn.
For the woe of the wise is but fleeting and brief,
And Pallas cannot brook the dominion of grief.
We must catch the bright sparkles that sprinkle the wave,
Not dive for cool shadows in grotto and cave.
Let us move in those muscular days of the Past,
When few were the shadows that cottages cast
On the wild, virgin turf of this wonderful land
That has laughed at the touch of the husbandman's hand

When Commercial street (ever so dusty just now,)
Would have gladdened the heart of an Irishman's cow;
When the Mayor went fishing, and went all alone,
And [illegible] was dull 'till the Mayor came home;
When Willamette, the pet of the Valley, was free,—
Unvexed in its flowery path to the sea;
And when, nursed in the lap of the great wilderness,
Alma Mater grew strong in its savage caress.

Quite a brilliant affair in that primitive day,
Was the weather-stained structure once over the way;
And sweet were the chimes that were strewn on the gale,
On that morn, when the President, seizing a rail
With the grip of a Theseus, pounded the wall
'Till the new University seemed ready to fall.
Then he went to the Chapel and dusted his chair,
Looked out at the window and then at the stair,
But never the music of jubilant feet
Woke the silence that reigned in the desolate street.
Thus the hours crept along,—the Professors looked wild
And persuasive by turns, and had even compiled
More lessons than one, in whose word woven clouds
Hung the lightnings of vengeance to hurry the crowd.
And the day was consumed, and its ashes in rain
Of luminous purple were sown on the plain:

The Trustees in Convention, laborious and late,
Shook the Chapel that night with a storm of debate.
"Tho' our youth need College," said one, "yet in truth
Is our College as loudly demandant of youth."
And marching at once o'er the crests of denial,
Suggested to give the young natives a trial.
Ingenuity shone through this latter remark,
And it lit the conclave like a scintillant spark
And the fiat went forth to the barbarous camp
'Ere the dew on the camas lay sparkling and damp.
And the morrow was wild with a prodigal feast
That swallowed a hundred canines at the least.
Now the natives were rude, and (the least of their sins)
On the subject of vestment were partial to skins.
And the paltry hominis preferred as by far
The noblest that Nature's patrician can wear
Most delightful naivette but frightfully cool—
But the President thought—for a fashionable school.
A volume of edicts was issued just then,
Which still courts the wonder of scholarly men,
Number One intimates with considerable stress,
As to amplification in matters of dress;
In the next the Preceptress just hints at the wish,
That young ladies beware of the odor of fish!
Then the serpentine lunch was forbidden till four,
And the war whoop and scalp dance to regions in-door;
While the Knights of the Bow were requested to aim
Very low when intent on professional game!

Thus the soul of the savage in vapor and beam
Of a second creation, grew bright with the dream
Of mental achievement, and Reason awoke
At the thrill of the Dawning's miraculous stroke;
O, in plebian language, the Arabic Digger
Plunged "in media ray" and was learning to figure;
And succeeded so well in felonious subtraction
That Professors were driven also to distraction!

At last, while in quest of the roots of Greek verbs,
They had wandered away in a desert of words—
Away and awild with such radical zeal
That they never returned when a factional wheel
Tossed a radical President into the chair,
And radical offices everywhere.

Thus departed a people of whom it is said,
Not a youth could be found not extensively red!
And we, who feel not from the wearisome pack,
May exult to have had a less colorable cast

And such are the tints of that varying dance
That have garnished our mother's heroic advance
Through the scenes of transition as brilliant as quick,
Till at last we behold her the rare and brick!

Alma Mater! Thy Past has been tortured with fears,
What may we not hope for the unrolling years!
For the arm of the Desert is broken, and soon
Our Twilight shall flash with the spray of the Noon.
As the pillared Sierras resound with the hoof
Of a steed that stays not for their storm-haunted roof,
O the Wilderness, dappled with harvests, shall teem
With a fatness outvieing the Emigrant's dream,
Where so long our sad sighs fluttered out but to die
In that dreary expanse all alone with its sky
And rich with the drift of Pactolian sand
Shall the billows of Industry carpet the land,
In her beauty barbaric and sparkle of gold,
Silver—sandalled and fair as the Sheba of old
See! The West has gone out and is wed to the East,
While the songs of the Oceans are blent at the feast!

From the crystalline tongues of the lakes that repose
With their woven embraces 'mid lingering snows,
From the odorous lips of the Mexican Queen,
As she dimples in summer's perennial sheen,
From the silvery trail of the rivers that fall
By Southern palmetto and ice guarded wall,
Sweeps the wind-worried pæan of Victory won:
"Lo! the Desert is slain! It is done! It is done!"

O Knowledge that blossomed in Orient bowers,
And in Attica loved her Athenian towers,
Hither come with thy star broidered mysteries and twine
Thy enchantments around this young priestess of thine!
Plant thy lilies of light in the breast of her youth—
Her children that kneel at the Altar of Truth
And we who are facing the tempest of life,
Let us keep within hail as we flit through the strife
With a stroke and a parry if foes should assail
Let us fence our brave mother through darkness and gale.
And return when we can to this classical grove
For a new pledge of friendship and promise of love

A Danbury Man's Adventure.

A Danbury man started for Greenwich to see an iron fence. What he wanted to see an iron fence for, we don't know, and it really makes no difference. He went. He wanted to get off on the 9:50 train, so he hurried some to get ready. His wife and a vicious outside women were cleaning house, and it was some little time before he could get his society-suit ready. In the meantime he opened fire on the largest half of a custard pie, holding it in his hand, and dancing around and yelling for his things. When she brought his overcoat, he set the pie in a chair to put on the coat, but in his nervousness, stepped on the end of a long-handled whitewash brush which was balanced across a pail, and the other end flew up and discharged about a pint of the awful mixture over the sofa, wall paper and his panting and indignant wife. She made a remark and he contradicted it. Then he sat down in the chair where the pie was and got up with a howl that would have melted the stoutest heart. She wanted him to wait while she scraped off the surplus, but he was too mad to converse in words of more than one syllable, and started for the depot and boarded the train, and in the seclusion of the baggage car removed the offensive lunch.

He got to Greenwich all right and looked at the fence. We hope he admired it. Then he started for home, but missed the train, and as the next was an express, and didn't stop at Greenwich, he was obliged to walk to the drawbridge at Cos Cob, or stay at Greenwich all night. So he walked up there in the rain, but didn't mind it much, as he had an umbrella and the pie was pretty well dried in. When he got to Cos Cob, he stood on a fence to look at the scenery and swear, when a sharp gust of wind took off his hat and carried it across a big lot. Then he stepped down on the other side, too amazed to express himself, and another gust of wind came along and turned the umbrella inside out. A brief conversation here ensued between himself and the umbrella, which he still held, and he again started for his hat. When he got to it, he kicked it round several times, and then jammed it down on his head, and started once more through the bogs as the train drew up at the bridge. It was a terrible struggle, as the bogs were uncertain, but he strained and coughed and spit and swore, and it did seem as if he would catch it after all. What he thought as he stood on that fence and watched the train sail across the bridge, no human being can tell.

An hour later he appeared in Stamford, wet through to the skin, splashed with mud, and with an expression on his face that would have soared a hydrant. Backing himself against the depot he stood there until midnight, and then went up on the owl train to Norwalk, falling asleep in the meantime, and narrowly escaping being carried by the depot. Here he took the freight for Danbury, arriving at home just before daylight. His wife was abed but not asleep. She lay there, torn by forebodings and harrassed by suspense. Perhaps he was dead and lying on the cold ground in the rain. Then she thought of his lifeless body, and groaned; and thought of the pie and groaned again. She knew his knock the moment it sounded, and rushing down in the costume appropriate to that hour, she threw herself into his hair and hysterically shouted, "Oh, you old rascal, come in here!"—Danbury News.

A Monticello, Iowa, jury has recently rendered a written verdict, the most beautiful specimen of phonographic spelling yet seen. It was, "Kno coz of axion."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

FRIDAY EVENING, June 27, 1873

Gold in New York to-day, 115¼

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85 buying; 86 selling

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 11s 11d@11s 12d, club, 12s 4d, 12s 6d

The reduced rate at which gold was sold in New York last Wednesday, has induced a stronger belief that the turning point in the financial season has been passed and that from this forward, at least, until the fall trade shall set in, we will have less ground for complaint than heretofore. Local rates remain without change, the demand being moderately well supplied, both at the banks and on the street. We hear, however, of no important transactions, and it is claimed that considerable sums might be had at current rates on prime paper, were the parties found who are willing to make investments. When the fall crop of grain is ready to be moved, however, we may look for a more active demand for money than exists at present, and a consequent maintenance of the high rates.

Storing Grain.

In conversation with an intelligent farmer of Marion we learn that question as to what are the best steps to be taken by grain producers to secure the best prices for their surplus in the coming season, is one which they are discussing with great interest. Some contend that the only hope of the farmer is to do away with the services of all middlemen whatever and rely on his own resources to deliver his grain to the consumer direct. Of course this plan is not expected to be carried out by individual but by combined effort, a sufficient number building a warehouse, storing their grain in it, in sufficient quantities to load a vessel and then chartering their own ship to carry it from the seaboard. Others claim that a part of the remedy lies in the construction of warehouses to be owned and controlled by the farmers themselves where they can store their grain and sell it at their option without the charges of the regular warehouse men and their imposition in some cases. Would all the farmers unite in this plan there can be no doubt that it would work well and enure greatly to their advantage, as they would then at all times be masters of the situation to a great extent, and if not compelled by personal necessities, otherwise, could hold or sell at option. The method however if only partially adopted would not develop all of its advantages as those who store with the regular warehouse men under the old plan would, though unwittingly, be in a measure assisting in depriving the farmers doing their own storage of the power to name a price for their products, by putting a part of that power into the hands of the warehousemen, who, under the plan principally followed last year, received the grain from the farmer, receipted for the amount poured into a general bin, perhaps ten thousand bushels belonging to a dozen farmers, being indiscriminately mixed; then when an opportunity offered, the warehouseman could sell the grain himself, and though he might have no title whatever to it under the existing contract, he could be held liable only for the market price when the demand might be made by the owner. Whether under the system of mixing everybody's wheat indiscriminately, as practiced by the warehousemen, any contract could be made which might not be satisfied by a tender of the market price when the real owner should choose to make his demand, is a question not definitely settled, and it is thought by many to be a subject worthy of serious attention whether the warehouseman who takes the custody of five hundred bushels of wheat should not be considered a "bailee with him," just as much as the man who takes a horse to pasture for another, and then sells and fails to redeem it. We are certain that if A had a thousand bushels of wheat, and wished to store it with B, and was willing to pay B such price for storage as was mutually agreed upon, whenever that price was tendered, A ought to be entitled to receive his wheat, and while in B's warehouse it should be considered not the wheat of B, no matter how much he may have mixed it with others, but of A, who is de jure the owner, and we believe our Legislature should be called upon to fix and define the liabilities of warehousemen in this respect as a matter of justice to the grain growers of the country, as well as to all others

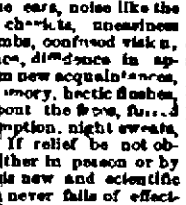
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years' standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.
